

ABOUT US

Established in 2016, the International Undergraduate Program Faculty of Psychology of Universitas Gadjah Mada is designed to educate young learners worldwide. We commit to provide education of the highest quality, coupled with a leading contribution to the advancement of research in a 4-year undergraduate program. Our curriculum includes internship programs to equip students with professional skills, along with community service programs to encourage students' teamwork, creativity, and adaptability skill, as well as to raise their awareness toward issues related to community development.

We are proud to have lecturers of young professionals who perform contemporary and dynamic teaching styles, along with a selection of senior lecturers with years of experience in their field. Many of our lecturers hold doctoral degrees from international universities. We have seven full professors, thirty-seven associate professors, and nine assistant professors from various fields in Psychology, ranging from neuropsychology to cultural psychology. Our lecturers continue to develop reputable research and services, both at the national and international level. As an international program, we also collaborate with overseas scholars through our multiple international partner universities. We invite best professors in their field to give lectures, share ideas, and discuss with our students.

INTERNATIONAL UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

UNIVERSITAS GADJAH MADA
 FACULTY OF PSYCHOLOGY

WHY STUDY PSYCHOLOGY AT UGM?

As a leading psychology program in Indonesia, our faculty has attracted the most talented students from within the country and around the world. Our internationally qualified teaching staff, cutting-edge facilities, and academic excellence have made us the best and the only psychology program in Indonesia to be certified by ASEAN University Network. We partner universities in the Netherlands, UK, Germany, Norway, Australia, and other ASEAN universities which will provide excellent opportunities for students to obtain international experiences and state of the art knowledge in Psychology.

BUILD YOUR FUTURE WITH US

We are proud to have skilled graduates who work in a broad range of professional fields. These include researchers, practitioners, decision makers, and community leaders. As part of our commitment to prepare graduates to meet the global challenge of the 21st century and at the same time sensitive to local issues, we invite enthusiastic and passionate young learners from across the globe to be part of this exciting journey and make a difference in their local and global communities.

INTERNATIONAL ACADEMIC EXPOSURE PROGRAMS

We prepare our students for both local and global challenges through our International Academic Exposure program. To hold Sarjana (Bachelor) degree, our students are required to participate in one or several of these programs:

Student Exchange Program

A program aimed for students to experience studying abroad at one of our university partners for a whole semester. Students will gain multicultural experience of living overseas with other international students and earn course credit transfer at the end of the program.

Academic Short Visit

This program allows students to study abroad in a shorter period. They are encouraged to take short courses in a Psychology-related field. Students joining this program will interact with global scholars, experience different education styles, and have the opportunity to build global networks.

Research Internship

Students taking this program will gain valuable experience by sharing research ideas and experiences with our international partners. They will be involved in a various stages of research from data collecting activities, data sharing, as well as engaging in collaborative data analysis and publications.

International Conference

Students participating in this program will experience cross-cultural interaction with participants from around the world. This program will also encourage students to present their research, but also listen, share, and build ideas with other international attendees.

Volunteering

This program is aimed to establish students' knowledge on global issues within a local context, and familiarize them with global interventions addressing those issues. Students will also get to experience collaboration with international parties on particular projects, including social activities.
